Advanced Rescue Training at the Titan Missile Museum

The purpose of this four-day course is to provide students with the skills and knowledge needed to effectively lead and train industrial rescue teams.

The focus of this seminar will be teaching the students to deliver classroom and hands-on rescue training. The first day will consist of classroom exercises followed by three days of enactment training.

The Titan Missile Museum

About twenty miles south of Tucson, this the only publicly accessible Titan II missile site in the nation.

Enactment training will take place in various parts of the silo complex. The tunnels and vaults allow for a wide range of enactment exercises.

Students will receive a complete set of training materials (Leader's Guide, PowerPoint, and Student Workbook).

A course outline can be downloaded from our website: www.d2000safety.com.

Prerequisites: Before attending this class, students need to have completed confined space entrant and attendant training and should have training or a strong background in technical rope rescue skills.
